|  | Adventure book “What Kind of Place is the Duodenum?” The duodenum plus the jejunum and ileum, which we’ll see in the next stage, are all together called the small intestine. The small intestine is a long organ, about six meters in length, but part of it, the duodenum, which starts at the end of the stomach, is about 25 centimeters long. When food enters the duodenum, pancreatic fluid comes from the pancreas and bile comes from the gall bladder. The enzymes in these, and especially the pancreatic fluid, result in strong digestion. Bile acts to change lipids (oils), which repel water, so that they can mix with water. Click this to move to the next step: 先へすすむ |
